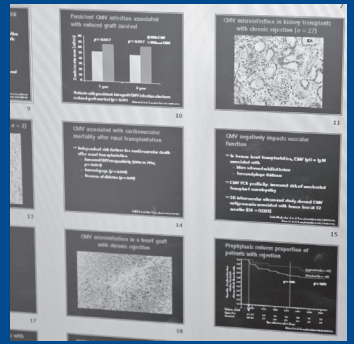
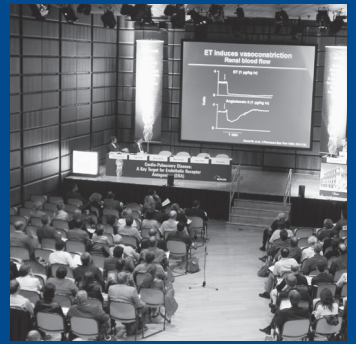
Our core asset is our highly motivated and well-trained team of medical and scientific project managers who bring a thorough understanding of the pharmaceutical field, scientific knowledge and extensive experience in managing professional symposia for pharmaceutical companies. We design and organise your conference and symposium programmes to meet your objectives, preferences and individual circumstances.




nspm offers you a full and comprehensive range of medical and scientific communications. We organise a variety of session types, from highly scientific plenary lectures to more relaxed interactive workshops. You choose the extent of our involvement: from recommendation of speakers, panellists, and chairpersons, to an opening and closing video, slide show selections, interactive voting systems, plenary lectures, themed lectures and panel discussions.
